U. S. MAIL LINE,-Travelers for the North will find this line as safe and expeditious as it is delightful. Going on board the splendid steamer Moses McLellon or Superior at the Louisville wharf at 12 o'clock, they will reach Cincinnati (after a quiet and charming ride through river scenery such as the West alone can present) in ample time to connect with the early morning train, via Columbus to Cleveland, where they will arrive in the evening three or four hours before the Crescent City or Queen of the West leaves her moorings for Buffalo, at hich place they will land on the following ng, half regretting that so enchanting a trip could not last months instead of hours. From Buffalo, taking leave of the intelligent and most genmanly and faithful of officers under whose watch ful eye they have traveled thus far, passengers can disperse for all parts of the North and East by a thousand competing routes, the worst of which our grandfathers would have thought too good to be possible.

Among all Northern lines this, fitly known as the "Old Reliable," is unsurpassed for its combination of ease and comfort and general mental as well as physical enjoyment with the highest safety and despatch. There is marvellous speed, but no haste. Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the traveler is borne on his way, he has the opportunity (and we should add the privilege) of taking breakfast leisuaely at the Spencer House, Cincinnati, and the cooler and richer part of the afternoon to drive around Cleveland, the Forest City, unquestionally one of the most picturesque and beautiful cities on the continent. In point of cheapness, expedition, ease, security, and pleasure, the route in question clay, and was taking on coal from a flat alongside of may safely challenge comparison with any route of similar length in the world.

The agent of this line in Louisville is the celebrated H. H. Buchanan, who is or ought to be the admiration and envy of steamboat agents the world over. We advise everybody going North to It is well known, however, that many of the boats him, when he will be pretty certain to speak call on him, when he will be pretty certain to speak for he belf. He not only has it in him, but it is in his line.

THE DARLING, WICKED CREATURES - HOW THEY READ THE BIBLE .- A lady correspondent the wharfmaster imposing on him, he imposed on sends us an item of local interest, which manifests the wharfmaster. the utter and alarming decline of her sex in morals. She writes that she was stopping the other Sabbath at one of our fashionable hotels. After dinner the ladies spent some time in the parlor, engaged in social conversation-not in scandal and gossip .-Presently one of them remarked that she must go and read a chapter in the Bible, and left the room. Sometime afterward, our friend thought that she would pay her friend a brief visit, though unwilling t) interfere with her perusal of the Scriptures. She entered the room, and found the lady gracefully lolliag upon the bed. But there was no Holy Book engaging her attention. Between her lips was pressed a fragrant cigarette, and her eyes were pas sionately gazing upon the wreaths af blue and delicate smoke which she at intervals puffed from her rosy mouth.

And that was the chapter in the Bible she was so anxious to read! How many of our lady friends indulge in this description of post-prandial devotions?

A MINISTER DRAGGED OUT OF THE PULPIT WHILE PREACHING.—We learn that John G. Fee, the notorious abolition preacher, was taken from the pulpit at Cummings, in Rockcastle county, Ky, where he was preaching, and, in company with Rev. J. Richardson and Rev. J. M. McLean, was removed from the county.—Louisville Democrat.

Another case was the egging of Bailey, of the Newport News, by some high-toned young Ken-tuckians the other day.—Cin. Com.

We judge, by the tone of Bailey's paper since, that he was only "egged-on" in his abolitionism.

> [For the Louisville Journal.] A MOON-RISE LONG AGO.

BY SALLIE M. BRYAN. "The bird that o'er my pathway flies, The fleeting vision of a dream. The star that lights awhile the skies Then turns away its silver beam; These, these are emblems to my heart of what thou wast and what thou art."

In the skies a solemn castle Rose, with banners of black clouds; And the haunted winds of autumn Hurried by in restless crowds; And the rain all chill and misty In the wood was falling slow; And thou wast beside me gazing At that moon-rise long ago.

Dimly in heaven's waste of shadow Burned each scornful star's calm fire; And above that dark cloud-castle The pale moon was rising higher. But a shade of sadness rested On thy lovely lip and brow-Didst thou see, far off, the blackness That is settling round me now?

Ah, I guessed not of such future When we watched that strange moon-rise For the light of love was dreaming In thy mournful dark-blue eyes. Will thy midnight curls entwine them Round Therese's fingers now-I too worship other idols-But find none so bright as thou.

Tell me, Percy, in the night-time Comes there no sad thoughts of her Who, amid thy youth's dim dreamings, Shared thy every smile and tear? As for me, a breathing statue, Though my tears refuse to flow, Life has been one mournful memory Since that moon-rise long ago.

NEW CASTLE, KY.

THE UNITED STATES AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. We are gratified to learn that the Executive Committee are rapidly pushing forward their preparations at the Fair Ground for the Exhibition of the United States Agricultural Society in September next. It will be one of the most attractive exhibitions ever held in this country, and it is confidently expected that in many departments it will surpass any that have been held in any part of the world. It will be very numerously attended by the citizens of all the States and of the Canadas, and the show of stock and produce and fruits and flowers and implements will be unusually extensive and interesting. Contributions of stock are already on their way hither from distant States, and numbers of Agriculturalists, Stock-raisers, Florists, Horticulturalists, and Manufacturers have signified their intention to compete for the liberal premiums offered. The new buildings designed for the accommod tion of the Society's exhibition are either completed or in progress; among these are a beautiful and extensive Floral Hall, and an ample provision for machines of various kinds in operation, and a large number of stables and pens. The various Local Committees of Arrangements are requested to meet at the Fair Ground this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and all of our citizens who are interested in the success of the Exhibition are invited to be present and see the improvements. It will be a pleasant excursion. The 21/2 o'clock train of the Lexington and Frankfort Railroad Company will stop to put off passengers at the Fair Ground, and they can return on the 61/2 train from Lexington.

The various privileges of the Fair Ground, such as the refreshment saloons, dining privileges, &c., will, we understand, be let out by the Executive Committee this afternoon

THE WHARFMASTER .- Capt. Diller, the wharfmaster, has given us an explanation in regard to the complaints alleged against him by the officers of the steamers W. I. Maclay and Metropolis. Capt. D. informs us that the W. I. Maclay stopped at the wharf between Eighth and Ninth streets, that she had her lines set, her engines stopped, the pilot was not at the wheel, the clerk had gone into the city, and that she took on board there a drayload of turpentine. The Metropolis had stopped nearly at the same place, was in a similar condition with the Maher. The city wharf extends to the west end of Ninth street, and these boats were of course within the jurisdiction of the city. Capt. Diller is an old steamboat captain, and well acquainted with the usages on the river. He makes no unjust demands going through the canal are in the habit of transacting their business at the canal for the purpose of avoiding the payment of wharfage. The captain of the Maclay will probably find out that instead of to $200,000 for each road, will be cut off under the

We have read extracts from a late sermon delivered at Utah by Heber C. Kimball, the Mormon apostle, upon polygamy. He argues that a plurality of wives is calculated to improve the human race greatly. He says that the Mormons, in their selection of wives, are always directed by the spirit of the Lord. We are a little curious to know how the thing is managed when two or more saints fancy themselves directed by the spirit of the Lord to the same girl. We have no doubt that this happens frequently. Probably in every such case Brigham Young steps in and settles the dispute by taking the AFFRAY AND MURDER .- An affray occurred near the Bath line, Morgan county, at Gabe Hughs's doggery, the particulars of which are about as follows: Joe and John Lawson, Buck Combs and Geo? Jones were all at the above piace one day last week, when, out of some words, a difficulty occurred between them in which Buck Combs was stabbed to death on the spot and Geo. Jones received three very severe stabs from which it is extremely doubtful whether he will recover. The Lawsons were ar rested and are in custody at Hazlegreen.

Yesterday afternoon an Irish boy, while row ing a skiff near the head of the canal, became engaged in a quarrel with one Bennett, a workman .-Bennett threw a stone at the boy, which knocked him senseless. He then fled.

HORSE THIEF .- Officer Lloyd yesterday arrested a man named J. H. Sloan, who had stolen a horse an investigation.

THESE ARE "Dog DAYS."-We have only one consolation to offer our sweltering, town-beseiged and dust-choked readers for the intolerable heat of yesterday and that is that the dog-star, called by astronomers Sirius, is now raging, having made his annual advent in the heavens just one week ago, where he will blaze away for another month-until the 25th of August. It is now time to look out for mad canines and to sit in the shadow of ice-boxes or cobbler fountains. We are victims for three weeks more, and can only grin and bear it.

Sirius, which we have vulgarized into the dog star, has a history and a reputation. The Romans said it had great influence over their flocks and herds. and used to sacrifice a dog to it. Hence we Christian Americans muzzle or shoot or poison all of our curs and other whelping, howling dogs. It is the brightest and largest of all the fixed stars, is thirty. times as large as the sun, and sixty millions of miles from the earth. The old Thebans measured the year by it; the Egyptians thought it foretold fruit rie, of Toronto. ful and unfruitful seasons, and Virgil gives a bit of his experience when he says:

"Parched was the grass and blighted was the co Nor 'scaped the beasts; for Strius, from on high With pertilential heat affects the sky."

MORE OF THE POISONING CASE .- Mr. Comstock and Miss Ransom, charged with producing the death of Mrs. Comstock by the abministration of poisou, were examined before Judge Johnston yesterday. The case, however, was continued until to-day,

Much certainty is felt by many acquainted with tnis terrible crime, of the innocence of Miss R. She is quite a young lady, and the deceased was her aunt. Comstock has been an inmate of the Jeffersonville Penitentiary, and bears a reputation of the most unenviable description. It is thought that he is the sole author of the crime. To see that the ends justice are attained it is earnestly desired that all of the retail druggists in the city attend the City Court this morning. They may be enabled to identify Comstock as having at some time or other purchased

"LAMMAS DAY."-In the olden time, in merry England, the first day of August was called "Lammas Day." The old Saxons were accustomed on this day to offer an oblation of new bread, as the first fruits of the harvest; and from its being observed with bread of new wheat, it was usual, in some places, for the tenants to be bound to bring in wheat for that year to their lords.

The word "Lammas" is a corruption of Loaf Mass-mass being a general word for festival.

THE NEW PLAY GROUND .- Such is the title of beautiful piece of music just published by Messrs. Tripp & Cragg, of Fourth street. It is the joint composition of two young gentlemen of this city, who bid fair to attain eminence. The air is by Mr. Charles L. Ward, and the verses by Mr. W. S. Hays. Both are exceedingly creditable productions and this piece of music will prove quite popular in the parlors and by the hearthstones of the people.

SILK, COTTON, AND WOOL .- The three great articles of manufacture, silk, cotton, and wool, are rapidly rising in price in Europe, and doubts are entertained whether the supply of any one of them will be found equal to the demand. Wool is selling at from 42s to 45s the todd of 28 lbs; and the greater part of the clip, which was on the sheep's back a month ago, has already, it is stated, passed into the hands of the speculator or the manufacturer.

SETTLEMENT OF RAILROAD DIFFICULTIES .- The arrangement for an advance of fares and reduction of expenses on the Erie and New York Central railroads have been agreed upon, and the Erie through fare was advanced on Monday from $5 to $8. Rates of freight will also soon be advanced. It is stated that extraordinary expenses, calculated to be equal new agreement.

RETURNED EILLIBUSTERS .- We learn from Mr. Davis, of the firm of J. E. Breed & Co., that he met in Boston, on Wednesday, several of Walker's late Nicaraguan army, who had just reached that city on the U.S. sloop-of-war Cyane. Among them was Capt J. W. Gaskill, Sam Downing, W. Lyons, &c. Mr. Downing was in the finest health and spirits. He expects to reach home to-day or to-morrow MONUMENT TO PRESIDENT YOUNG .- The Presbyterian Herald centains a letter from Thomas D. Tilford, Esq., of this city, proposing the erection of a monument at Danville to the memory of the late Rev. Dr. Young, to cost not less than $5,000. Of course all of the alnmni of Center College will contribute with alactrity to this noble ol ject.

THE MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION .- It will be see by the proceedings of the General Council that both Boards approve of the wise proclamation of Mayor Pilcher, recommending the close of all coffee-houses and drinking saloons on the day of the election .-We hope that no one will disobey this reasonable request.

Quite an excitement was created on Third street, opposite the post office, yesterday, by a set-to between two men named Sparks and Self. Pistols were displayed, and hard words used, but no dam age done to anything save the peace and dignity of the commonwealth.

DECEMBER AND MAY .- A correspondent at Gametville, Meade county, writes of a wedding which occurred in that town on the 23d inst. The groom was a Mr. Stovall, of Illinois, rich, ripe, and aged now in transit from Chicago to Buffalo 630,000 from Lawrenceburg. He was committed to await 67 years. A that time its right ascension was three hours and forty-five minutes, and its declination fifty-eight de grees north. It is quite faint, and its motion is increasing in the right ascension by about twenty min utes, and diminishing the declination by about one degree daily.

NEWS FROM CHINA.-The correspondent of the New York Times, writing on board the San Jacinto, now at Hong Kong, states, on reliable authority, that the Island of Formosa will probably be taken possession of by the United States forces at an early date. An officer of the American squadron has been sojourning there during the past three months, engaged in making the necessary observations. From the same source we learn that eight of the foreign prisoners, alleged to have been beheaded, are still alive in Canton. Yeh is gathering together large reinforcements, and the voice of the Mandarins is loud for war. The United States squadron was inactive, and, as our correspondent makes no mention of the reported movement of the San Jacinto up the Canton river in pursuit of piratical junks, we presume that this intelligence was incorrect, or at least premature. The small-pox had not disappeared from the Levant.

A bed of fine coal has been found near Uniontown, in Union county, in this State. On the night of the 19th ult., Lincoln county, Mo., was visited by a most terrific storm, which almost devastated a portion of the country, but its effects were most severely felt in the neighborhood of Millwood. The crops suffered seriously, and many of the people will sustain a heavy loss.

The new Catholic Church, one of the most beauti ful in the State, was also destroyed.

Dr. J. B. Patterson, heretofore a highly re pectable physician of Carthage, Ind., was arrested last week and held to bail in $3,000 on the charge of being a counterfeiter.

AN ADVENTURE .- The Shelbyville, Ind., Banner relates an adventure of Miss Loudon of that county, which shows that the coolness and courage of the old pioneer women have not entirely disappraced among their degenerate descendants. She had started on a visit to her sister's in the eastern part of the county, and took a short cut through the woods. Coming to a swamp she tried to go around it and get back into her road again. She followed it for some miles, but at last found that she was lost. The Banner goes on thus:

It was now getting dark, and sie was in the midst of one of the most gloomy solitudes to be found in all this region. She halloed several times hoping to attract the notice of some one that might be in hearing. It soon became so dark as to render further progress impracticable, and, from the swampy nature of the country, exceedingly dangerous. With the coolness of a philosopher she made up her mind what to do. Dismounting, she prepared to encamp for the night. She made her horse secure to a tree, and took off the saddle. She fortunately had a blanket which she spread under a large tree, upon the ground, and wrapped in a calarge tree, upon the ground, and wrapped in a ca-pacious riding skirt, with her saddle for a pillow, she took up her lonely camp quarters for the night. The thought of snakes kept her awake for several The thought of snakes kept her awake for several long weary hours, when at length she fell asleer. Awaking some time during the night, she got up and examined to see that her horse was safe, when she lay down again and snoozed it soundly till morning. She heard the train on the railroad and made for the direction of the sound, and by hearly at time she was safely at her destination. breakfast time she was safely at her destination

INK-PA-DU-TAH'S BAND TO BE GIVEN UP BY THE SIOUX NATION .- The St. Peter Free Press of the 22d ultimo has later intelligence from the Sioux

The Sioux Indians have given up the Indian who tabbed the soldier, and he is now a prisoner in the Fort. Should the soldier die, the Indian will be immarily shot.

It is now ascertained, beyond a doubt, that Inkpa-du-tah and his band are annuty Indians. Their names are on the list, and only last fall he drew pay for eleven. Upon ascertaining this, Mr. Cullen, the Superintendent, under instructions from the Depart-Superintendent, under instructions from the Department, refused to pay the Indians until they surrendered Ink-pa-du-tah and his band or exterminated them. At first this caused great dissatisfaction, but they finally acquiesced, and a party of two hundred braves, six from each band, has already started for that purpose. The troops do not go with them. Ink-pa-du-tah is at Skunk Lake. The wretches will now, in all probability, be exterminated, root and branch, which will undoubtedly put an end to all the difficulties.

made between the values of land in slave and free States, and an opinion is prevalent that the difference is in favor of the free States, where lands have the same relative advantages of location and soil. This sale, and many others that come daily under observation, show that lands of equal value intrinsically bring a higher price in Kentucky than in the other States opposite to it on the Ohio river. The price paid for these lands is from 25 to 30 per cent higher than similar lands would bring on this side of the river.

GENERAL HOUSTON ON DIPLOMACY.—It is said that Gen. Houston, when he was President of Texas, gave the following instructions to his diplomatic agents: Make the foreign ministers drink two glasses of wine to your one, and thus obtain their secrets from them!

'Upon this the Boston Traveller remarks:

Sagacious old hero; he achieved the independence of the Republic by a battle, and would maintain it by a bottle!

Mr. George Washington Makewright's moustache is no better than formerly, and on Wednesday night last received a terrible blow. He was passing the evening with a small family party, when a game of blind man's buff was proposed, and freely entered into. At the end of the game, Mr. Makewright's adored one, who was present, and got her toilet decidedly disarranged, said to him laughingly, "Dear me! only see my hair! I declare, it is just like your moustache!" "In what way?" asked Mr. Makewright, proud that she could recognize the existence of that feeble ornament. "Why," cruelly responded the fair one, "don't you see, it's all down." Mr. Makewright shaved his upper lip on Thursday morning. Poor fellow. Mr. George Washington Makewright's moustache

THE FASHIONS .- The letter of our New York corespondent will of course attract the attention of our

> FASHIONABLE INTELLIGENCE. FASHIONS FOR AUGUST.

NEW YORK, July 27.

FASHIONABLE WORLD OUT OF TOWN, At this season when all the world are out of town, and the city left to the mercy of the poorer class of tradespeople, unlucky paragraphists, and Irish laborers, New York presents anything but a striking aspect in point of fashionable importance. Fifth avenue is deserted, and Broadway tenanted by a curious medley representing the fagend of all creation. The principal stores are empty or only visited by some stray old lady from the suburbs, or an extra economical housewife who embraces the opportunity to get some "bargains;" while the few clerks who are left in charge elevate their evebrows, and languidly wife who embraces the opportunity to get some "bargains;" while the few clerks who are left in charge elevate their eyebrows, and languidly swear that staying in town at this season is an insufferable "bore". Of course, fashion in the Metropolis is en dishabille, and would be much more picturesque on canvas, straw, or paper. The light blue bonnets and green dresses, the red shawls and yellow gloves, with kindred incongruities are quite overwhelming, and the attempts in the way of hoops surprising. A specimen was seen in Broadway yesterday, which convulsed with merriment all who came near it. This was in the person of an extraordinarily

This was in the person of an extraordinarily large, fat woman who sailed along majestically large, fat woman who sailed along majestically, conscious of being the object of particular attention. Her face was like a very large round of beef and body in proportion, and over her immense "skeleton" hoops, she wore a dress of flowing white muslin, from beneath which brown gaiters of elephatine proportions stood out in bold relief. A fashionably small yellow bonnet perked of the back of the head, the tiniest lace shawl just touched her ample shoulders, delicate lilac kid gloves partially concealed the great hands, below which, however, the red flesh bulged to such an extent that it seemed as if it must bulged to such an extent that it seemed as if it must burst its boundary, a light blue parasol, and needle work mouchor held on the tips of the ingers completed the ensemble of one of the best natured cooks in all New York. So much for fashion.

SUMMER AMUSEMENTS IN THE CITY.

The managements of the different theatres have all got an attack of "summer garden" mania, and are turning their entrances and lobbies into recepta-cles for two or three little stunted bushes, which cles for two or three little stunted bushes, which they call "evergreens," and occasional miniature plaster figures, such as Italian boys carry round on their heads, and sell for a shilling each, but are called here with the same delicate perception of a practical joke, "statuary." The most extraordinary pains are taken for the benefit of the "million," and all their tastes are consulted. At Wallack's the "Indian Punka" is in full operation every evenning, and consists of strips of Nankeen, supported at intervals by pieces of shingle; these are suspended from the ceiling, and flap backward and forward in the most satisfactory manner. Mr. Stuart also in the most satisfactory manner. Mr. Stuart also provides pails of ice-water (and one tumbler), which are carried round between acts by little boys in thoroughly democratic style, and finally has a little thoroughly democratic style, and maily has a little jet which spouts up Cologne water, into the receiver of which every one dips their handkerchief until the question of its original color becomes problematical. At Burton's, the "promenade concerts" and the "real" glacier attract considerable attention, and indeed the amount of breathing room, the unlimited quantity of ice-water, and the really good music make it a pleasant place to "drop in" for an hour or so, and one forgives the "glacier" for being a sew "chunks" of "real" ice, which hide their diminished heads before the performance is over.

The management of Wallack's and Mr. Bourcicault are expected to institute another series of these concerts at the Academy of Music on a much more magnificent scale, with a real "falls," composed of a rock scene, with a plate of glass before it, over which several ists of Croton water are to be turned. which several jets of Croton water are to be turned With the help of a few colored lights and an old stage figure painted up they can have "Venus rising from the sea" and any quantity of aquatic delu-

SUMMER FASHIONS IN THE COUNTRY.

It is generally conceded that New York was never so generally cleared out as this season, either in con-sequence of the police difficulties or for some other reason; all who possibly can have left or are leaving town. Even the washerwoman of a lady friend requested the amount of her "little bill" on the ground that she was "going into the country" for "recreation," and, though Fashion has disappeared for a time from the precincts of stone pavements and brick walls, she is flourishing gaily under the shade of stately trees, or is perchance crowned with sweet-er flowers than ever blossomed in a conservatory. It is astonishing how enthusiastically fond of nature our gay belles become when they emerge from the shell of city life. "Oh! don't you admire nature?" said a young lady to a gentleman on board a steamboat going up the The young gentleman assured her that he did "ex-so do I," said the enthusiastic young lady; "I dote upon it. Last week we went on an excursion up the most lovely mountain and stopped near the top, by the side of the most magnificent little lake; on one side there were such enchanting rocks. and on the other shrubbery—what do you call c'm?

—pu e "I imagine, but I was so delighted; there was so much nature about it."

And the young gentleman, unable to express in words, bowed his admiration. But this has little to do with fashions, so I hasten to describe a few of the

ELEGANT TOILETS FOR WATERING PLACES. For matinée or morning costume the materials are jaconet, nankeen, marseilles (for jackets), and white muslin. A few have been seen made of a small black and white check summer poplin, and in this case the jackets are fancifully trimmed with a border of blue, cherry, or maroon. These are very stylish in effect, but more suitable for a cooler

A very pretty style is a skirt of white embroidered muslin, each one terminating in a broad hem, through which a mallow ribbon is run. The jacket is of the same material, and is trimmed to match the skirt. The sleeves are composed of a puff and two frills, into which also a mallow ribb serted. Braces in the same manuer. To complete the costume, a graceful little scarf mantelet is added, trimmed with a flounce half a yard in depth, and fastened by a bow of mallow ribbon.

Most of the summer coiffures consist of roses, lilacs, violets, field flowers, mountain ash, large dai-

The fanchon and curtain are surrounded by a rich blonde, and the ornaments are garlands of hyacinths, which cross the front, form a bandeaux inside, and blend elegantly

Another is of white crape, puffed lengthwise in the most minute and delicate manner, the head small and of white silk, covered with a blonde star. The ornaments, water lilies.

A third, still more charming, is made of rice straw, with an open front of white tulle, an inch wide. This is covered with blonde, which falls over the forehead but retreats at the sides, passing round under the curtain, which is made of rice straw, but encloses another made of tulle, to which the blonde encroses allocate made of thic, to which the blonde is attached. The top of the crown is open and con-sists of a light blonde star, placed over tulle and supporting a handsome agrafe of ivy leaves, long grass, and berries, which float between the hollows of the curtain. Inside there is a blonde bandeaux, a lovely white rose with a pink tint, and a trail of ivy banging down.

An exquisite promenade toilette is composed of gray glace with a side stripe of rich China blue silk upon the full skirt. It is accompanied by the 'Dubarry' mantle, made of white India muslin lace and blue ribbon in the following manner: The plain part is cut in the shape of a shawl point, and has attached to it three flounces of muslin, each terminating in a hem in which is inserted an inch wide blue ribbon edged with handsome lace. A lace insertion finished on each side with a narrow edging is placed round the junction of the flounces, and plain part and a ribbon run between. It is completed by a hood gathered at the throat and trimmed with lace and ribbon to correspond. The boanet, simple and elegant, is composed of rice straw and trimmed with a fall of rich blonde; tea and pink roses and wide strings of blue silk ribbon.

In place of belts wide sashes are beginning to be worn, and have even appeared on the promenade.

A very pretty dress for a country ball is composed of three tunic skirts of white tarltane with a gold band above each hem. The front of the skirt has fifteen parrow doubles. fifteen narrow flounces, commencing in almost a point at the waist and gradually widening towards the bottom of the skirt. The corsage is low, round, and ornamented with lace and a handsome bouquet of field flowers, which terminates in a chatelaine of trailing grass and wild blossoms. The coiffure of field flowers forms a cordon on the top of the head, tufts at the side and a cache peigne behind.

An entirely new and very pretty shawl has appeared in Paris and had a great success. It is called the Haydée and is made of black tulle, crossed by a checker work of small cords in contrasting colors, such as cherry, green, deep blue, and orange. It terminates in a deep silk fringe or in guipure lace.

A new piano, invented and patented by J. B. Driggs, is causing a good deal of discussion in musical circles. It is constructed on the theory of the Cremona violing and is the result of twelve years of Cremona violin, and is the result of twelve years of patient labor and investigation. Thalberg, and all the great artists, have enthusiastically endorsed it, the great artists, have enthusiastically endorsed it, and, at a trial of its power and sweetness of tone which took place at the rooms of the company the other day, warmly expressed their admiration, declaring it far exceeded all the grand pianos they had ever tried. One of the improvements is the re-moval of the thick plank bottom and interior block-ing of wood and the acquisition of much greater ing of wood and the acquisition of much greater strength and compactness by means of an iron frame independent of the case. So far as I could judge, I never heard such wonderful depth and purity of musical intonation; it seemed to embody the very inspiration of genius and art. The prices are also very moderate, and the fact that Wm. Vincent Wallace, the composer and artist, is the president of the company, and examines each instrument before it is submitted for sale, is guarantee for their excellence and reliability. There is little doubt but this new and elegant invention will soon supersede this new and elegant invention will soon supersede the lumbering affairs which have heretofore been in

It is said that Frank Leslie's New York Gazette of Fashion is going to change its name, or rather, like strong-minded women, be incorporated with another half but retain its own. Instead of being devoted exclusively to fashion, a large amount of interesting reading matter will be added, profusely illustrated, under the caption of Frank Leslie's Family Journal and Gazette of Fashion. It is to be hoped that American ladies will appreciate this enterprise, it being the most reliable fashion journal published in the United States.

THE JERKS.—In 1804, I first witnessed that strange exercise, "the jerks," although I had heard much about it before. It took subjects from all denominations and all classes of society, even the wicked; but it prevailed chiefly among Presbyteriens. I will give some integrange.

terians. I will give some instances:
A Mr. Doke, a Presbyterian clergyman, of high standing, having charge of a congregation in Jones-boro', was the first man of eminence in this region that came under its influence. Often it would seize him in the pulpit, with so much severity that a spectator might fear it would dislocate his neck and joints. He would laugh, stand and halloo at the top of his voice, finally leap from the pulpit, and run to the woods, screaming like a madman. When the exercise was over, he would return to the church, the exercise was over, he would return to the church, calm and rational as ever. Sometimes, at hotels, this affection would visit persons, causing them, for example, in the very act of raising the glass to their lips, to jerk and throw the liquor to the ceiling, much to the merriment of some and to the alarm of others. I have often seen ladies take it at the breakfast table, as they were radiative out the conference of the conference of the conference of the conference of the call of the conference of the call of the conference of the call breakfast table; as they were pouring out tea or cof-fee, they would throw the contents toward the ceil-ing, and sometimes break the cup and saucer. Then hastening from the table, their long suits of braided hair, hanging down their backs, would crack like a whip. For a time, the jerks were the main topic of conversation, public and private, both in the church and out. Various opinions were expressed concerning it—some ascribing it to the devil, others to an opposite source; some striving against it, others courting it as the power of God unto salvation. In many

A preacher, who, in early life, was a dancingmaster, joined the conference, and, when the jerks were at their height, was stationed on this circuit. He declared it was of the devil, and that he would preach it out of the Methodist Church. menced the work with great zeal and high expecta-tions; but, before he had got once round, he took the jerks himself—or, rather, they took him. When the fit began, he would say, "Ah, yes! O, no!" At every jerk he used his hands and arms as if he was playing the violin. One morning, being seized as he was going to his appointment, he let go the bridle, and the horse ran off till he was stopped by a gate. The rider having dismounted in order to steady himself, laid hold of the pailings of the fence, which, unfortunately, gave way; the lady of the house coming to the door to see what was the matter, heightened his mortification. Attempting to hide himself by running into the orchard, his strange movement, as he ran fiddling along, attracted the attention of the hounds, the whole pack of which himself him with hideous wells. Being affected of pursued him with hideous yells Being afraid of dogs he turned and went into the house by the back door, and, running up stairs, jumped into a bed, where he lay till the fit was over. His proud heart would not submit, and the disease, as he termed it, growing worse and worse, he gave up the circuit, and withdraw in retirement where his sun want. and withdrew in retirement, where his sun went down under a cloud. Poor man! I loved him. Usually the subjects of this strange affection were offi, and it did them no harm. The wise ones of the day, such as Wm. M'Kendree and Thos. Wilkerson, said little about it, but preached, exhorted, and prayed as if it was not in the country.

At the close of the year I attended a camp-meeting at Carter's sation where about to thousand.

At the close of the year I attended a camp-meeting at Carter's station, where about ten thousand people assembled. Here a controversy had been going on between Presbyterians and Methodists, the former saying, among other bitter things, that the latter were hypocrites, and could refrain from shouting if they would. They were the aristocracy, we the poor. On Monday morning I preached, preceded by the venerable Vanpelt, who left the congregation calmly and silently weeping. I arose, like most men who know nothing, fearing nothing, and undertook to account for the jerks. The preachers looked frightened and the audience astonished. I viewed it as a judgment of God.

Taking a compendious view of the nations, I rightened and the audience astonished. I viewed it as a judgment of God.

Taking a compendious view of the nations, I showed that God was just as well as merciful, and his judgments, though long delayed, sure to come. I adverted to the wickedness of the people, enlarging on their intolerance and bigotry, charging that middle Tennessee had gone as far as any part of the United States in those particulars. I glanced at the rise of Methodism and the persecutions it had endured, and quoted the taunting language of its enemies, "Ye are hypocrites and can cease shouting if you will." After a pause, I exclaimed, at the top of my voice, "Do you leave off jerking if you can." It was estimated that instantly more than five hundred persons commenced jumping, shouting, and jerking. There was no more preaching that day.

Autobiography of Rev. Jacob Young.

A humorous old man fell in with an ignorant and A humorous old man fell in with an ignorant and rather impertinent young minister, who proceeded to inform the gentleman, in rather positive terms, that he would never reach heaven unless he was born again, and added, "I have experienced that change, and now feel no anxiety." "And have you been born again?" said his companion. "Yes, I trust I have." "Well," said the old gentleman, eyeing him very attentively, "I shouldn't think it would hurt you to be born once more."

STRICTURES of old or recent date effectually cured in a few days by an operation which causes no pain. Where a stricture exists, general derangement of the whole constitution must ensue, a continuance of which will bring on a train of symptoms to be dreaded, and will undermine the constitution and cause premature old age.

SEMINAL WEARNESS.—Particular attention will be given to this disease and all the consequences growing out of it, brought on, in many cases, by the destructive habits of inconsiderate youth and excessive indulgence of the passions, which undermine the constitution, rendering the subject unfit for either business or society, and causing premature old age.

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE .- Quite an interest has recently existed in Southeastern Indiana on account of an alleged breach of marriage promise charged against Rev. T. B. Geary, of Liberty Circuit, by a respectable young lady of Madison. According to the Indiana American, the circumstances of the case were about as follows:

Mr. Geary was entertained, during the late session of conference, by the family of which this young lady was a part. As an acknowledgment of the kindness shown him during his sojourn, he sent her the Ladies' Repository for the current year. On its receipt she wrote a letter, enclosing a book-mark, which letter was answered with thanks for the towhich letter was answered with thanks for the token, and there he thought the correspondence ended.
Not so the young lady. She alleges that she receiveed some fourteen letters from Mr. Geary, all of which she answered in due time, in which, on his part, proposals of matrimony were made which were accepted by her, and the time of the marriage fixed at about the middle of April. A few days before the time fixed, she alleges that she received a letter purporting to have been written at Liberty, by a sister of Mr. Geary, saying that he was dangerously ill; and in a few days more she received another from the same hand, informing her that he was dead, inclosing a lock of hair and giving his dying words. inclosing a lock of hair and giving his dying words, &c. She soon ascertained that he was not dead, and her friends, believing that he had been playing false, had charges preferred against him before the Presiding Elder. Upon an investigation, only six letters were produced, and these were proved to be forgeries. Of course Mr. Geary was acquitted. It is believed that the young lady is innecent of any comlieved that the young lady is innocent of any com-plicity in the forgery.

THE GLASSGOW POISONING CASE-Mr. Minnoch A London letter in the Boston Post says:

He seems to have been a vain, conceited talkative young man, apt to boast of his success with the ladies, extremely sensitive to the influence of female beauty, arrogant, excitable, and destitute of all nice sense of honor. She, too, if one may judge from her letters, was a passionate, weak-headed girl, though her cool, sensible self-respect throughout the terrible ordeal would show an under-current of character little suspected by her antecedents.

It is said that the gentleman to whom she was engaged declared throughout the trial that he would marry her, if she was acquitted. He is a person of good standing, of property, and some ten years her senior. Mr. Smith, the father, is a most estimable member of society, an engineer or architect by profession, in easy circumstances, and his family moving in good society. Before the trial came on, he sold his property, wound up his affairs, and made all his preparations to leave the country with his family at the termination of the suit, whichever way the decision might be. Neither he, nor his family, nor the friends, nor the Glasgow community, nor any person who will fairly read the evidence, believe that the girl gave the deceased poison. LIVING IN UTAH .-- A private letter from Provo City, Utah, gives some idea of the manner of living there:

The sales of wheat and cattle are never made for

The sales of wheat and cattle are never made for cash or ready money, but a trade will be effected in this way. A good cow will be offered, worth here $30, of which about three dollars will be paid in tea, coffee, and sugar, and the balance in dry goods. Tea is worth $2 50 per pound, coffee 50 cents, sugar 50 cents, and dried apples 50 cents per pound.

The Prophet (Brigham Young) says that if they (the Mormons) will live their religion, or the religion of Jesus Christ, they shall have four years of great plenty, and that then will follow seven years of famine, such as was never before known in the world, but the Saints will not want for bread, nor their friends who shall come to the valley. And he (Brigham) has already commanded his people to build granaries, which are to be filled during the years of plenty.

The New York Times, of Thursday, says in its money article:

its money article:

The supply of capital on temporary employment is remarkably easy, and on close inquiry to-day we find that strictly prime mercantile bills are scarce outside of banks at 8½ @8 # cent. Second choice or fair lists of paper are infair supply at 10@12 # cent., but nearly all made on new business, in anticipation of the fall trade with the interior, and not in renewal of old obligations. A sounder state of things ameng the jobbing and grocery interests has seldom been enperienced. The shipping trade is dull, but generally unembarrassed. The sugar speculators are not in good spirits, but there are mostly rich parties connected with the Havana trade, and the decline in prices, which is now thought to inevitable, will fall where it can best be borne.

The defalcation of the old Bank of Utica, reported this afternoon, will take the public by surprise, as the old President, Mr. A. B. Johnston, has long enjoyed the reputation of a model banker, and has written a number of able papers on banking and political economy. The fault with him appears to be one of over-confidence in his sonin-law, the cashier of the Bank, who made large unauthorized advances to the Black River Railroad, and covered up the transaction by ov rdrafts on his corresponding banks. The exact amount of the deficiency is not yet known. The capital of the Bank is half a million of dollars.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of yesterday, says:

The transactions in flour are mostly confined to the local trade, and prices ranging at $\frac{8}{2}$ 40@\pmathbb{8}6 60. The arrivals are very light, only $140$ bbls to day.

In provisions the views of holders are above those of parties desirous of buying. The latter offer 10½ for bacon shoulders and 13c for bacon shoulders and 13c for bacon shoulders and 13c for bacon shoulders are retarded. Sales at $0$ bhds shoulders took place at 10½ c.

The receipts of rye, wheat, and oats are light. The price of wheat is $1 20 for red and $1 20 for white. A moderate demand exists for corn at 72@75c. The receipts to-day were 4,507 bushels.

Money matters are quiet, and the banks and banking houses are doing little in the way of discounts. Coin is inactive, and New Orleans sight exchange almost nominal at ½ discount@par.

CINCINNATI, July 31, P. M. Flour market is firm-sales of 1,100 bbls at $6 40@$6 50 for superfine and $6 60@$6 75 for choice and extra; the receipts are light. Whisky dull at 26%c. [From the New Orleans Price-Current, July 25.] Cotton—We have again to remark that our quotations for the lower grades are mostly nominal, they being in very little favor, and the occasional sales being at very irregular rates, but middling has continued to tend upward, and we further advance our figures an ½c, remarking at the same time that lists of a strict class, which are now very scarce, and only to be met with in limited quantities, and held at or about 15c.

Tobacco—After several weeks of almost entire cessation of demand, with a large and accumulating stock, especially of the low, frosted, and "nondescript" kinds, we had occasion to notice some movement at the close of last week, as some few parties came forward, and although low in their offers yet holders were compelled to avail themselves of the opportunity to reduce their stocks. Under similar circumstances the business has been continued into the week just closed, and further sales have been effected within the week of about 2,000 hlids, though it is quite possible that transactions may have taken place to a considerably greater extent; for the operations in this article for some time past have been conducted on a system so preposterously mysterious that nearly all parties, both in and out of the trade, have been as it were groping in the dark, both with respect to the actual extent of business and the actual rates current, as nearly all the sales of any importance discovered are declared to be on "private terms." Under these circumstances it is impossible for us to present strictly accurate quotations, but we may remark that we understand the market, though without material change, to be steadier and firmer at the figures last given, and now repeated, as the sales of the sale work, as already intimated, have been on private terms, the only lots in which the prices are given being 25 hlab at 18½c, 14 at 14c, and 30 at 14½ of 37 b. The sales include 115 hlads stems at 36 37 b. We quote for Pork—A much firmer feeling has been manifested in the market this week, and we have to report a sale of 517 bbis on Wednesday (including 437 mess and 80 mess ordinary) at $23 50 7 bbi round. which is a decided improvement. The bulk of the stock is in the hands of very few parties, and we understand, is generally limited at considerably higher figures than those quoted above.

Bacon—A marked improvement has taken place in prices for some descriptions, and about 300 casks have been disposed of at 123/66126 for ribbed sides, 133/661426 for clear, and 92/6610c for shoulders, some holders declining to sell even at the outside figures. Hams are in limited request at 12/66126 for ribbed sides, 138/661426 for clear, and 92/6610c for shoulders, some holders declining to sell even at the outside figures. Hams are in limited request at 12/66126 for ordinary hand loom to good power loom. India bagging has continued firm, with rather an upward tendency, as some 700 to 800 bales have beed sold at 14/6145/c parcels of extra heavy being now held at higher figures. In rope the transactions have not been made public, though holders appear to be quite firm at 83/699/c for hand made and 10 6105/c 9 th for machine.

Gunny Bags—Prices have again improved a little, with sales of several hundred bales at 12/6/213/c for light and medium weight, up to 14c for heavy.

Coffee—Continued quict has pravailed in the market for Rio, but notwithstanding the limited demand, prices have found vurchasers during the week at the following range of quotations—10/6103/c for ordinary to good fair descriptions, and 11/6113/c for prime and choice. The stock remaining in first and second hands last evening was about 102.500 bags against 36,500 at the same time last season.

The calls upon the banks are still considerable, though greatly diminished compared with what they were, and money continues to be in good request out-doors, but there is a very mater

New York Cattle Market, July 29.

The market was much the same as last week, the demand being moderate at last week sprices. The quality about as good on the average as usual, and the cattle sold from $80.00 to the average as usual, and the cattle sold from $11\% c \(\frac{1}{2} \) the with very few sales at the latter rate—the general selling price was about $10 \(\frac{1}{2} \) the A large number of that offering this week were from Illinois, while a larger number than usual halled from Indiana. The number on sale at Allerton's for the day and week was 2,648, and at all the yards 2,927 head.

Cows and calves are without change.

Veal calves are in moderate request at previous rates, as are also sheep and lambs.

Swine are in demand, and are held a $6 higher. Some sales have been made at 7%@$c. The total number on sale was 1,611—all of which were sold at Allerton's.
